"My respect, understanding and knowledge for what the EPS does has increased immensely."

CPA Participant—Fall, 2011

A very detailed, informative, inclusive and enjoyable course. A must-attend for anyone wanting to become more active in the social welfare of their respective community.

CPA Participant—Spring, 2011

This course was very interesting and valuable in providing the tools I need to be an active member in my community and partner to the EPS.

CPA Participant—Fall, 2010

I have enjoyed this course very much and encourage others to attend. It is a big commitment, but very well worth it!

CPA Participant—Spring, 2011

"The fantastic interaction with the presenters and our peers was tremendously valuable."

CPA Participant, Fall, 2009

Tremendous benefit to me. I can take what I learned in this program and can be applied to my everyday job.

CPA Participant—Spring, 2010

This course has been a fantastic educational experience and rates as a 'must attend' course worthy of further promotion.

Course Presenters

Experienced instructors include high ranking officers and sworn members with expertise in specialized areas of the service. Civilian instructors involved in community policing programs and external justice organizations will also provide special presentations.

Community focused

Each community has its own policing needs. To assist these communities each class will target and focus on a specific community and invite business leaders, community residents and other stakeholders to participate and find practical solutions to community concerns. Priority will be given to these community partners.

Meet your classmates

We try to make the class as diverse as possible and encourage participants who have an interest in police related issues or work alongside the EPS to apply. Past participants have represented many parts of the community including;

- * Community social agencies
- * Business leaders
- * Teachers
- * Municipal politicians
- * Media
- * Cultural Societies
- * Legal Community
- * Police Commission
